

Welcome to the SkillsCommons Content Preview.

This course has been prepared from material uploaded to SkillsCommons as part of a TAACCCT grant. The purpose of this preview is to show you content in SkillsCommons in a convenient course format. In order for you to decide whether to adopt any of the SkillsCommons materials, you need to know what they contain. Where it might not be convenient for you to do that directly, we have gone through the effort to place the information here.

For example, the material in SkillsCommons might be an LMS course export, in which case this Blackboard preview format shows you the content without your first needing to ingest the material into your campus system. The original material might also be a format where previewing was not trivial.

SkillsCommons Repository <https://www.skillscommons.org>

FAQs

If I want to adopt material from Blackboard Open Education site, what do I do?

The SkillsCommons courses in Blackboard are previews only. An export of this course in both Blackboard Learn and IMS Common Cartridge formats is part of the Item record in the SkillsCommons repository. If you want to adopt this material, go to the repository and download what you need. For additional help, refer to the SkillsCommons Support Center.

How do I find the Item Record for this content in the SkillsCommons Repository?

Visit the SkillsCommons Repository at www.skillscommons.org and search for this course by title or keywords. Note the search may yield other materials of interest.

What if my campus doesn't use Blackboard?

An export of this course both Blackboard Learn and IMS Common Cartridge course is part of the Item Record for this material in the SkillsCommons Repository. Your campus LMS may be able to use either of these formats or other export formats that are stored in the repository. Your LMS administrator may also be able to help.

Can I teach this course directly?

No, these course are for preview only. In order to teach this course, download the appropriate material from the SkillsCommons repository and work with your LMS system administrator.

How can I become a student in this course.

These course are for preview only. Visit the SkillsCommons repository to view the Item record for this course or the SkillsCommons Support Center, which may help you locate an institution where this material is offered.

How do I make changes to this course?

These courses are for preview only. In order to modify this course, download the appropriate material from the SkillsCommons repository and work with your LMS system administrator or instructor designer. Note all SkillsCommons material is available under a Creative Common Attribution License, which allows for modification and reuse.

If I want just a single file from the course, can I download it directly?

Yes, that is an option. Note that you may want to visit the SkillsCommons Repository Item Record for this course for re other files and formats.

Does it cost anything to use these courses?

These courses are for preview only and are available at no charge.

What if I have suggestions to improve this course?

Visit the SkillsCommons Repository and contact the Support Center.

How do I share a modified version of this course?

Visit the SkillsCommons Repository. If you are a TAACCCT grantee, you will be able to upload content directly. If you are not a grantee or need further guidance contact the Support Center.